

TEACHERS-ORIENTED TRAINING AND WORKSHOPS' CYCLE

In 2020, non-governmental organization "Diversity Development Group" – international project "InterCap" partner in Lithuania – successfully proceeded with the cycle of teachers-oriented educational events and organised a total of four training sessions and six accompanying "second-phase" workshops, designed to address topics of migration, security, sustainable development, and global education.

During the trainings and workshops held, inclusive teaching methods that encourage pupils and students to discuss global problems and raise controversial questions with regard to migration, security and sustainable development, were introduced.

One-day or two-day long training sessions were delivered by lector Jogaila Vaitekaitis. Vytautas Magnus University trainers and members of the Anna Lindh Foundation actively joined discussions, tried out the recommended methodology, and were in detail introduced to an e-learning platform.

More information and reflections on the face-to-face training held in July and online training held in October are available on the website of "Diversity Development Group".

Open, admission-free and multilingual (translated to 9 languages, including Lithuanian) e-learning platform created in the framework of project "InterCap" can be accessed: here

WEBINARS HELD BY SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT EXPERTS

In 2020, "Diversity Development Group" together with project "InterCap" partners' community continued organising webinars that address problems related to sustainable development, migration and security.

In June, experts from foreign countries discussed Covid-19 virus outbreak impact on migration and education in the European Union countries.

Recording of the event is available: here More information on the speakers and the agenda can be found: here

In November, members of the Lithuanian education system community shared their insights during the practice-oriented project "Sustainable education without exclusion: problem vs opportunity?". Intense and immersive discussion was followed by a thematic short-movie program.
